Settlement Reached In Otsego Lake Drainage

(Released by Trout Unlimited) According to the settlement reached at a hearing held in Ingham County Circuit Court on July 2nd, a settlement was reached in the litigation over the proposed drainage of Otsego Lake into the North Branch of the AuSable River. The suit was brought by Trout Unlimited and AuSable River property owners against Otsego County and the State Department of Natural Resources. Both sides expressed the view that the proposed settlement would relieve the flooding conditions on Otsego Lake but without damage to the river.

Health Dept. Still Tests Well Water

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

The well sampling done by Kenneth Childs has resulted in a rush by property owners to have their well water tested. This is not the place to have your well tested. Childs is a geologist working on the Houghton Lake Study to determine the character of the water at different levels. He did not run bacteria tests, but only chemical tests.

If you want to have your well water tested for bacteria, you should get a sample bottle from the local Health Department office. You can take your own sample and mail it to the State Health Department in Lansing. The lab at Houghton Lake is not set up for making bacteria tests.

Bernie Bauman, Sanitarian in Clare County, said they were more interested in how the well is constructed than in the water samples. In other words if the well is deep and well constructed there is very little chance of contamination. But if it is a shallow well with pitcher pump or other open type pumping device, chances are pretty good for contamination. The only remedy is to install an accepted well and pump.

For example if the well pit is constructed so surface water can enter and seep down along the pipe, you have a good chance of contamination.

If you do send in a water sample and it shows contamination, contact your county sanitarian for advice for properly installing your well and pump.

Cederberg Supports Narcotics Bill

Congressman Elford A. Cederberg of Michigan's Tenth District submitted today a statement to the Subcommittee on Europe of the House Foreign Affairs Committee supporting legislation which he introduced enabling the President to suspend a nation's foreign assistance if it failed to cooperate with American narcotics authorities in the fight against the drug trade.

The international aspect of the drug crisis was underlined recently by the Turkish government's announcement that they will eliminate completely the practice of growing poppies as a cash crop. H. R. 4412 would simply "put in writing" the implied economic sanctions available to the U. S. in its negotiations with foreign officials. Thus far, no other foreign governments have responded to diplomatic pressure alone and the Congressman's bill would allow President Nixon a powerful option in his negotiations with those governments. Cederberg noted that several of the nation's most deeply involved in international drug traffic are major beneficiaries of American foreign aid program.

Pat McIsaac Injured at Lake Monday

Pat McIsaac, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving McIsaac of Grayling, suffered severe injuries Monday afternoon when he struck by a boat at Lake Margrethe.

According to marine officers, the boy along with Jon Rasmussen and John Messenheimer, was far out in the lake, beyond where swimmers normally are seen. They were alternately walking out on a sandbar and swimming, planning to cross the lake in this manner.

Hubert Treston of Okemos, operator of the boat, told officers that he suddenly saw a boy waving and swerved the boat but was unable to miss all three. He immediately shut off the motor and threw a life preserver to the injured boy, then jumped in and helped all three boys into the boat. He took them to the public beach at Camp Grayling where he flagged down a passing vehicle, which immediately dispatched a National Guard ambulance to the scene.

He was taken to Mercy Hospital and later transferred to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City by a Crawford County Ambulance, the officer said.

Reports Tuesday morning were that he was resting comfortably following surgery.

Public Hearing on Taxation At Traverse City Friday, July 16

State Representative Philip Mastin (D-Hazel Park), chairman of the House Taxation Subcommittee on Assessment Practices, announced today that the subcommittee will conduct a public hearing at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, July 16, at the Traverse City Senior High School Auditorium, Eastern Avenue at Milliken, Traverse City.

The Traverse City public hearing will be in addition to hearings already completed or scheduled at Lansing, Muskegon, Pontiac, Flint, Kalamazoo, Benton Harbor, Bay City, Houghton, Marquette and Detroit.

According to Mastin, the subcommittee has received petitions containing more than 200 signatures as well as a formal request from the Traverse City City Council asking a public hearing in that community. Local legislators invited to participate in the hearing include Representatives Michael Dively (R-Traverse City), Richard Friske (R-Charlevoix), Dennis Cawthorne (R-Manistee), and Senator John Toeppe (R-Cadillac).

"The purpose of these hearings," Mastin said, "is to attempt to track down and correct inequities in local property assessment practices. We are trying to find out why there are wide discrepancies in assessments, why years go by without reassessments in many areas, how Boards of Review affect the overall assessment picture, why attempts for equitable assessments are so often frustrated, what is wrong with our appeal procedures why some units of government have high factors year after year, and why some local units apparently are not following the law."

Mastin said the committee will take testimony from county equalization directors, local assessing officers, city officials, interested organizations and individual property owners.

Holy Land Slides To Be Shown At M. M. Church

The Rev. Mr. Richard Lobb, Senior Pastor at the Ames United Methodist Church, Saginaw, will be the guest speaker at the Michelson Memorial Church on Sunday evening, July 18th at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Lobb has recently returned from a ten day tour of the Holy Land and will present a forty-five minute program of slides and conversation on his trip.

The program will take place in the basement fellowship hall of the M. M. Church at 400 Michigan Avenue. Everyone is invited to attend. Attire is informal. Following Rev. Lobb's presentation, there will be a period of questions and answers for those who would like to know more about the Holy Land or a Tour of the Holy Land itself.

This is a rare opportunity for everyone to get an up-to-date view of the countries of Israel, Palestine, and Greece. These countries have given birth to three of the four great religions of the world. It should be an inspiration and an education for both young and old alike. Plan now to attend on Sunday, July 18th at 7:30 p.m.

Special to the Avalanche

Observers will include government officials, families of Guardsmen and residents of the Grayling area.

About 9,000 Guardsmen from Indiana, Ohio and Michigan now are engaged in field exercises designed to perfect their combat skills. Friday, at 5 p.m., they'll assemble at the Camp Grayling parade field and pass in review before the citizens and dignitaries.

Outstanding units and individuals will receive commendations for their services to the 38th Infantry Division. Brig. Gen. Robert G. Moorehead, Indianapolis, an assistant division commander, will serve as commander of troops for the annual review.

On Wednesday, civic leaders from the Grayling, Gaylord, Houghton Lake and Prudenville areas were guests of the division at yearly "Civic Day" observances.

The afternoon program included a briefing session, tour of training activities and a reception hosted by the Division's commanding general, Maj. Gen. Kenneth W. Brewer of New Albany, Ind.

Legislators and other government officials from Indiana will arrive by airplane on Thursday and will remain through the review on Friday. Before returning home, they will be guests at a reception. On Monday, a plane load of reporters will arrive from Indianapolis. They will spend two days reporting on the activities of units from Indiana cities.

The Guardsmen have been joined for field training by a large contingent of Army Reservists who are fulfilling their annual active duty obligation.

Training operations are being evaluated by teams of Regular Army officers whose job is to assess the overall performance of the division. Training this year is emphasizing unit-level maneuvers, development of leadership skills and perfecting maintenance techniques.

DUCKLING DINNER

Fruit Dressing

A 12:30 nuptial Mass united in marriage Patricia Jane Fitzpatrick and Douglas Lee Wilson, on Saturday, June 19, at St. Mary's Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dula Fitzpatrick of 601 Ottawa, and the late Warren Fitzpatrick. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson of 118 Barbara are parents of the groom.

Rev. John Tupper of Roscommon officiated at the ceremony before some 200 guests. Mrs. Nancy Hoffman presided at the organ and Miss Tricia Nethers presented a solo "For All We Know". The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Terrence Fitzpatrick.

For her wedding, the bride wore a full length gown of white silk polyester, styled with mandarin neckline, empire bodice, long, full, sheer sleeves, and A-line skirt with detachable train. Both her gown and train were accented with panels of Venice lace. A crown styled headpiece held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of miniature carnations, bachelor buttons and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Candace Henig. Bridesmaids were Mary Beth Wilson, sister of the groom; Grace and Jane Fitzpatrick, sisters of the bride. They all wore blue floral floor-length pant dresses, styled with empire bodice, scoop neckline, short puffed sleeves and full pant skirt. Ruffle trim accented the neckline and sleeves. They each carried a single white carnation with different colored ribbons.

Howard Wilson served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Mark Nelson, Larry Beery of Mt. Pleasant and Steve DuBois of Albion.

A reception followed at the American Legion Hall with a buffet style luncheon served. Floral decorations were of bachelor's buttons, carnations and baby's breath.

The bride wore a yellow knit pantsuit for her going away costume. Following a honeymoon spent in the Upper Peninsula, the newlyweds are at home at the Wilson summer cottage.

Both young people are graduates of Grayling High School and are attending Central Michigan University. They will return to Mt. Pleasant for the fall term.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick chose a pale blue knit dress for her daughter's wedding while Mrs. Wilson wore a dress of beige knit with orange trim.

Out of town guests present were from Alpena, Lansing, Saginaw, Florida, Cheboygan and Detroit.

County Included In Highway Billboard Removal

LANSING — Legal action to remove 93 billboards along Interstate freeways throughout the Lower Peninsula was announced today by State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth and Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

The action represented the broadest attack yet taken by the state against illegal billboards. Removal of the signs, all put up in 1970, will more than double the number taken down by the state since enactment of Michigan's 1966 Bill-board Control Act.

Stafseth sent notices both to the owners of the signs and the property on which they stand. Sign owners have 30 days to take them down. Those not removed by July 31 will be cut down by the Department of State Highways and the owners billed for the expense.

Kelley said: "We will continue to use the present law, as ineffective as it is, until we have a meaningful replacement for it. The effort, the time and the cost to the state in proceeding under the present law is immense and would be greatly reduced if the bill which I have proposed for effective public regulation of billboards is passed."

"Nevertheless, the problem of illegal billboards is so severe that we must take whatever steps are available to us to meet the current situation. Therefore, we will use all of the resources available to us now to continue to make a frontal attack on visual pollution in this state."

"At the same time, I join with the governor, environmental groups and thousands of citizens in this state in urging the Legislature to resist pressures which they face from special interest groups and to pass effective billboard legislation in the public interest."

Forty-eight of the boards to be removed were along I-69 Freeway, 42 in Branch County and 6 in Calhoun County. Location of others is as follows:

I-75 Freeway — Eight in Cheboygan County, 6 in Bay County, 2 in Saginaw County, 9 in Crawford County and 1 in Ogemaw County.

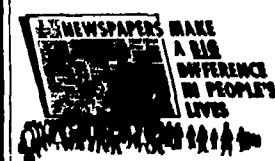

M-76 (To become I-75) — 4 in Arenac County.

I-96 Freeway — Two in Kent County, 3 in Ionia County and 1 each in Clinton, Eaton, Ingham and Livingston counties.

I-196 Freeway — One each in Berrien and Van Buren counties.

I-696 Freeway — Two in Oakland County.

I-496 Freeway — Two in Eaton County.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Taking a chance

That's a high fence for a young man to walk, but take a good look at his face, and you'll see that he's not only determined to do it, but confident that he can.

Chances are, with this attitude, he won't slip. At least, he'll have far less chance of slipping than if he approached "fence-walking" plagued by self-doubt.

So many of us approach tasks, challenges, opportunities, with a nagging conviction of our own failure, even before we begin. We need more faith in ourselves. Self-faith comes only from a far greater faith in God.

Face up to your own "fence-walking." In the course of life, we all have to do quite a bit of it. Find the courage to start by listening to what your church has to say to you.

Time To Revolt Is Now

Stories of a taxpayer revolt makes good reading for the rebelliously inclined. But, as a practical matter, when the spending level of government rises, there is no alternative to higher taxes. The time to protest is before the spending starts. For example, it is now generally conceded that extensive changes are to be made in the nation's health care system — how costly these changes will be depends upon how deeply the government enters the health care picture.

A spokesman for the Nixon Administration has warned that a federally-funded national health insurance program would triple the average American's tax bill for federal health services and still add $18 Billion to the government's budget deficit. It would mean that the taxes required to pay for such services for an average household would rise to $1,271 a year from the present $405, according to the spokesman. This is the estimated price of an all-out government health care program now being proposed in Congress. Other less costly health insurance programs are also being advocated. One of them, offered by the medical profession would finance health care needs through a system of tax credits while retaining the principle features of the traditional American medical system which have led to the highest quality of health care ever known. The medical profession's proposal, known as Mediredit, would avoid making tax sets of private citizens and would preserve the principles of voluntarism and free choice, both for doctor and patient.

The farther the government goes into the health business, the higher the tax bill. Those who oppose ever-higher taxes should oppose federal national health insurance schemes that would grant confiscatory powers of taxation to government. The time to revolt is now, not later.

Hebron, Ind., Porter County Herald: "In scanning a little magazine the other day as I went thru my mail, I came across the following item that I would like to pass on to each of you . . . 'The trouble with politics is not the thousands who are in it, but the millions who are out.' There is so much truth in that statement. It is a shame that so many 'good' people refuse to get involved in politics. They either take the 'let George do it' attitude or else they cover up by saying those 'dirty' politicians . . . when, basically, they are to blame. Remember . . . 'bad' public officials are elected by good people who refuse to vote or 'get involved'."

— a weekly message relating the world of today to the lessons of Faith and Church ...

I am going the way of all earth.

—Joshua. XXIII, 14

In the busy life we lead, all of us are going somewhere. We are mobile, a nation on wheels. We ride to the supermarket, even less than a block away. On Sundays, often we take a "ride", perhaps going nowhere in particular. Sometimes, in the spirit of going, we ignore the danger signs along the way. We forget how a summer shower can turn the street into a highway of glass. We ignore the speed limit posted on a dangerous curve. Sometimes we pay dearly for our lack of caution. Let us not speed through life too hastily. It is a better life when we follow the rules and the proper guidelines.

your week ahead

BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: July 17 to July 24

- ARIES
Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
The urge to spend heavily seems to be in the scheme of things. According to stellar patterns, outside forces or pressures are the source of your being impulsive with money.
- TAURUS
Apr. 20 - May 20
O.K., Taurus! It seems as though you've asked for it! You've permitted yourself to become too involved with a trouble-maker. Now, you're going to make some radical changes.
- GEMINI
May 21 - June 20
Don't rely upon joking your way out of an emotional problem... or a legal situation for that matter. The planet, Mercury will have you wondering why you do some of the things you do.
- MOONCHILD
June 21 - July 22
Communications, your chart indicates, could be troublesome. Misinterpreting the meaning of a word, during a casual conversation, is a good case in point.
- LEO
July 23 - Aug. 22
Many under your sign must guard against inactivity. Thoughts that are in the shade could very well come to the fore, during the present cosmic cycle.
- VIRGO
Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
Your chart is friend-oriented. Taking up with someone who you do not know well enough, is indicated. Oh, yes! Good news from afar will reach some Virgos.
- LIBRA
Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
Your persuasive ability will reach a high peak, in the next day or so. It might surprise you to discover how influential you will be, if you contact strangers.
- SCORPIO
Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
It's not a new feeling with you, of course, but, you might have strong urges to be impulsive with the opposite sex.
- SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
Redouble your efforts to avoid lethargy and boredom, during your routine tasks. So, stay locked on - avoid error.
- CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
Don't shoot off the hip. Think before you speak. Many Capricorns will commit themselves beyond their ability to deliver.
- AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
There should be an "across the board" improvement in the scheme of things, for most Aquarians. There's a slight chance that you'll say more than is normally considered, good taste.
- PISCES
Feb. 19 - Mar. 20
This week should end up better than you think. The point? See to it that you don't retreat into a dream world of self pity.

Family SHOPPING BAG

ITEM: Identification of important foods is usually made for most products—Danish hams, Taiwan pineapple. But, if the product is further processed or packed in this country, you may not see an identification of the origin of the food.

ITEM: If you plan to purchase a new range for your kitchen, consider the self-cleaning oven types on the market. Manufacturers estimate it costs seven to ten cents a cleaning, depending on local utility rates. This is comparable, and sometimes even less expensive, than using commercial cleaners in ovens that are not self-cleaning.

ITEM: Having cook out guests with different preferences in "rare," "medium," or "well done" steaks and hamburgers? You can build charcoal fires in several red clay flower pots, and cook your barbecue meats "to order" without mix-ups. Large clay pots from 8 to 12 inches make ideal individual barbecue pits. Set them on matching clay saucers.

ITEM: Buy poultry suitable for intended use. Most chickens sold whole can be roasted. Those marked "roasting chicken" or "Rock Cornish game hen" are young tender-meated chickens that have enough fat to brown well at a moderate roasting temperature. Large fryer chickens can also be roasted whole. Broiler or fryer chickens can be roasted whole, or cut into halves or quarters for broiling, oven baking or barbecuing.

How to keep a clean kitchen

By Jim Fitzgerald

And then I wrote . . .

It was freezing out the other day, but my wife cooked steaks on the outdoor grill and then rushed them inside to eat. "I don't want to get the oven dirty," she explained.

I ate the steak with my fingers, so as to not dirty silverware, and that night I suggested we sleep on the floor, so as to not muss up the bed. And I was thinking how neat the hospital would be if the patients would just go somewhere else to be sick.

A week later I noticed something new spinning slowly on the outdoor barbecue spit (and isn't "spit" a lovely word for a cooking utensil?). It was a sort of wire cage, cylinder shaped.

"I bought that at Yankee's," my wife explained proudly. "You just fill it with chicken thighs and legs and then attach it to the spit and it revolves slowly over the fire. It's better than spitting a whole chicken."

"Gee," I said. A few minutes later I heard a terrible scream, followed by sobs. The door on the revolving cage had flipped open and all the thighs and legs fell into the charcoal fire.

"As a chicken cooker," I told my distraught wife, "you do not remind me of that white bearded Kentucky colonel who always smiles as he produces delicious chicken on TV. But this is probably because you shaved this morning."

"I will wash this chicken and then put it back in the cage," she said. "No one will taste the difference."

"Certainly," I said. "And scrub it good. There is nothing I like better than Rinso chicken with a charcoal flavor. It's like taking a bath in the fireplace."

"You are a riot," my wife said. "It doesn't even occur to you that this is your fault. In other families, the husbands do the outdoor cooking. If you had been out here watching, the chicken wouldn't have fallen in the fire."

"That's right, Daddy," said 2 little brats. "Other dads do the outdoor cooking. How come you don't?"

"It's because I'm afraid of the wild outdoors," I explained. "I might get attacked by a bear or something. Gee, the last time I went alone to our outdoor cooking spot I almost got lost. I had to follow the extension cord back home."

Which brings us to the incredible part of this open air cooking mania which is swiftly burying our nation in charcoal dust. I wouldn't mind if all these nuts wanted me to go to an old-fashioned picnic in the woods. I would simply refuse, explaining I have still not recovered from World War 2 battle fatigue. I got my fatigue while battling to keep the peas out of my peaches, and the rain out of my coffee. I forgave the Germans and the Japanese long ago. But I have never forgiven the cross-eyed mess sergeant who spotted a whopping spoonful of creamed crud into my pocket containing a scented letter from my girlfriend.

Any patriotic American must understand my refusal to risk opening old wounds with a rusty can opener, around a campfire, swatting bumblebees, sitting on burrs, 30 feet downwind from a newly dug john. But that is not what outdoor cooking means today. The modern picnickers never leave home. They do their grilling and spitting on the patio, 10 steps from a $500 GE oven which is turned on every Christmas. During blizzards, some families cook in the living room fireplace. The important thing is to NOT cook in the kitchen.

A sane man might well wonder why an electric civilization is returning to the open flame of the cave men. The most often heard reason is that charcoal food tastes better. This is hooey. Most outdoor-cooked meat is either burned or raw. The only way you can stomach it is to drench it in sauce made from hot peppers and brimstone. And the only way you can sleep that night is in an Alka Seltzer bottle.

The one big reason for the popularity of outdoor cooking is the cunning of the female. Mabel wants to move the mess out of her kitchen and into the yard, so she doesn't have to "get the oven dirty." With the aid of Sears Roebuck and national advertising, she has convinced her husband there is something rugged about preparing meals in the fresh air. It feeds his ego to don a corny apron and play Mrs. Tarzan of the patio. He thinks it is man's work, so the big clown does it. It is really Mabel's work but she has escaped it by moving the pots and pans outside.

Mabel is no dope. But her husband is.

Backward and downward. †

A Way To Judge Judges

Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia has come up with a rather interesting if somewhat perplexing idea.

He has suggested that the federal constitution be amended so that federal judges would lose their present lifetime tenure; instead, their appointments would have to be reconfirmed by the United States every eight years.

As I understand it, under the Byrd plan, if a majority of Senators would vote to reconfirm, then the judge would have another eight years on the bench; if a majority voted against reconfirmation, then the judge would be retired at full pay and the President would offer a replacement.

Admittedly, I'm not too clear on the details of Sen. Byrd's proposal; all I know is what I read in a recent nationally syndicated column about it.

But as noted above, it is an interesting idea. Apparently Sen. Byrd is looking for some further check on the independence of the federal judiciary. Right now, there's not much of a check on federal judges. Once they're in office, they're in for good. About the only escape hatches available are impeachment—which isn't very frequent or practical, in real life—or death, which is inevitable, or retirement, which isn't frequent, either. Once a judge is on the bench at a good salary, why should he leave just because he's getting old? Very few do; most are carried out by eight pallbearers.

And indeed, the Byrd plan would introduce a very significant check on the judiciary. The United States Senate would be that check; the judge would have to win approval of at least 51 senators to stay on the job.

I would guess there would be a few judges—not many, probably, but one here or there—who would get the senatorial bounce. Can you imagine, for example, the battle royal that would have developed if Justice William O. Douglas came up for renomination in the past year or so?

Coming up before the senate for reconsideration certainly would change the concept of the unfettered judiciary which is a basic part of the constitutional approach to the federal court system.

Life tenure for judges, in the main, is probably desirable. To bring them back before a sitting body for reconfirmation would inevitably instill a political atmosphere in the judiciary which is now, by and large, lacking.

And an appointment authority never really knows what he's getting, either. For example, I'll wager that President Eisenhower didn't bargain for the full range of effects the country received from the appointment of Chief Justice Earl Warren. And Justice Byron (Whizzer) White, appointed by President Kennedy, has been considered a disappointment by some of the social activists of the Kennedy clan.

And, behind the cloak of life tenure, judges can change. There's the son of former Republican congressional stalwart, Charles Halleck of Indiana, who carried a like-father-like-son conservative record onto the bench, then recently received a lot of publicity for his district federal post in Washington with his more modernistic approaches to behavior and justice, including long hair and the whole bit.

In my opinion, periodic review by the voters has not worked exceedingly well for state and local judges in Michigan, even though the elections are non-partisan. The state supreme court situation is especially bad, where a justice has to go before a partisan convention for nomination before running as a non-partisan. The new constitution, providing for nomination by affidavit for incumbent judges, is some help, but not much.

Maybe life tenure would be better for state judges. Maybe Sen. Byrd is barking up the wrong tree.

Or maybe not. As I said at the outset, it's interesting, but perplexing.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) As a result of a fire, I had to leave my apartment and live in a motel for several months. My insurance company reimbursed a portion of my living expenses for this period. Is this reimbursement taxable?

A) That portion of the reimbursement covering the normal living expenses, such as rent and meals, you would have incurred had the fire not taken place is taxable. The insurance payments covering the additional living expenses caused by the loss of your residence due to fire are not taxable. The living expenses reimbursement will not reduce any casualty loss you may be entitled to deduct on your tax return.

For more information, see Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts." It's available free from any IRS office.

Q) The IRS computed my tax for me and sent me a bill for the additional tax due. Can I pay the tax in installments?

A) No. The entire tax must be paid within thirty days of the date of the bill. Interest and penalty charges will apply if the amount due remains unpaid beyond the due date.

Q) Instead of making an estimated tax declaration, can I just increase my withholding?

A) Yes, you may increase withholding to avoid making an estimated tax declaration. To determine the amount of additional withholding needed, use the worksheet that came with the estimated tax package. Make sure your balance due on Form 1040 for 1971 will then be less than $40. If you did not get an estimated forms package, the 1040ES worksheet may be obtained at your local IRS office.

Q) My son is planning to deposit his earnings from a summer job in the bank in order to pay for college. Do I count these earnings when I figure his total support to see if I can claim him as a dependent?

A) If your son keeps his earnings in the bank for the year, his earnings are not counted as support for that year. If he saves but also spends the money on support items, such as education, this year, then these funds have to be taken into account in computing his total support and his contribution to that support for 1971.

To meet the support test, you must provide over one-half the cost of providing your son's total support including food, shelter, clothing, medical and dental care. Educational expenses are also included.

Q) While cleaning out my desk drawer, I found a copy of an old tax return of mine and noticed a deduction I neglected to take. Is it too late to correct the mistake?

A) You can correct an error by filing an amended return, Form 1040X. It must be filed within three years from the date your original return was filed, or within two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later. If you filed your original return early, the three-year rule applies from the due date for that year.

Jack Pine's Stump

Last week some misguided soul purposely sunk the scale model paddle wheel boat at the Bear Mountain pond. It was the second time this summer the same thing has happened. If it's a practical joke, it's a damned poor one. Repairs are expensive and the boat is out of commission for a while. Many of our tourists enjoy the ride on the boat and the little kids are especially impressed. Stunts like this not only hurt the owner, but hurt the whole community and depress our visitors. They wonder what sort of people we have up here. Makes me wonder too.

While on the High Horse of Righteous Indignation, I am sorely tempted to speak about our Disney-Land phone company. If it wasn't for the fact an awful lot of nice people work for General Tel I would. They must work awfully hard to keep it going too. Funny thing, though, the pay isn't as good as Bell's, but the rates they charge are the same. Maybe incompetent management is more costly than the other.

Having covered the subject of Jerks and Jokes, I now have a little bit of rarely-heard religious history to pass on. It would seem that when Noah had been on his ark for several days it sprung a leak. So the dog volunteered to plug it up of a while by sticking his nose in the hole. After several hours of this, he was relieved by a woman who put her foot over the opening. The next day she was relieved by a man who sat on the spot. And to this day that is why dogs have cold noses, women have cold feet and men stand with their backs to the fire. That's a fact.

Louis Armstrong, probably the greatest trumpeter the modern world has ever known, is dead. I think the finest tribute I heard paid him was by Walter Cronkite on the CBS Evening News. He quoted an Associated Press article on Armstrong as closing the story with, "Gabriel, move over."

— JP —

You know, there is always something funny about a hunting guide who gets lost in the woods. We had a happening close to that here last week when a professional river guide, who also drives a road grader for the County, got knocked off the back of his riverboat by a low sweeper and had to be "rescued" by his city-type customer.

— JP —

The other night a twelve-year old boy was fishing with his Dad down below Stephan Bridge. The kid was catching good fish. Down beyond him was another fisherman who wasn't doing much at all, and he wallowed upstream and demanded to know what the kid was using. Apparently his tone and attitude didn't exactly impress the lad, so he told him, "Quite a bit of common sense and the right fly." Maybe the boy shouldn't have answered him that way, but under the circumstances I think it certainly was the right answer. The same night the boy, who is also a Boy Scout, watched two men sitting on the bank drinking beer. When they left, the beer cans were still there, so the boy told them they'd forgotten to pick up the cans and put them in a nearby container. They just looked at him and continued on. So he hollered at his Dad for help. It was surprising how quickly the cans were taken care of. There ought to be more kids like that in this country of ours.

— JP —

Somewhere in this land I am told there is a sign in a laundromat which reads "Leave your clothes here, ladies, and spend the day having fun." From the look around town these hot summer days, some of the gals have almost taken the sign literally. But mind you I'm not complaining. Not at all.

— JP —

There's a couple of teen agers in this town who keep bugging me to see their names in print. I've told them I rarely use names, but in the interest of getting my lawn mowed and generally lessening threats against my well-being, I'll oblige them. Mike Sparks. Rusty Papendick. The summer heat must be affecting me.

Nielsons Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Nielson of Grayling celebrated their golden anniversary Saturday, July 3. A family dinner was held at the Chief Shoppenagong Hotel with 16 of the family present. The anniversary cake and coffee were served later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Nielson.

The Nielsons were married in the Roscommon Methodist parsonage in 1921 and lived in Grayling where Mr. Nielson worked at the Kerry and Hanson Co. for 18 years. In 1943 they moved to Lansing, but returned in 1958 to make their home in Grayling again.
